

Planet Earth Gets the Sniffles and Mother Nature Gets Her Inhabitants to Come to the Rescue!

Eco-friendly books are all the rage and since most books are made of paper or paper materials they very well should be on the path to going green. Several children's book authors have taken the steps necessary to make their books as eco-friendly as possible as well as teach others about what it takes to make the world a better, more earth friendly place.

Madeline Kaplan makes her debut as a children's author with the book Planet Earth Gets Well. The book is an easy reader for ages 4-8 but it is a wonderful book to read as a parent to your children. Planet Earth Gets Well discusses global warming, deforestation, energy depletion and also the melting polar ice caps in a kid friendly way.

In the book, Planet Earth gets the sniffles and Mother Nature reaches out to her inhabitants to help solve the problem and get Mother Earth well again. Mother Nature speaks to Planet Earth telling him how to get better while also initiating changes in the behavior of the people of Planet Earth. The story is a provocative, insightful and enlightening tale that kids and parents everywhere can appreciate.

Planet Earth Gets Well author Madeline Kaplan holds a B.A. and M.B.A. in English Literature and has published dozens of business articles. Planet Earth Gets Well is her first attempt at children's literature and it has succeeded.

Not only is Mrs. Kaplan's book entertaining and about being more eco-friendly but the author herself is an advocate for everything green. For every one of her books sold, she will plant a tree through the organization Eco-libris.
